Manfish A story of Jacques Cousteau

Once upon a time in France, a baby was born under the summer sun. His parents named him Jacques. As he grew, Jacques fell in love with the sea. He dreamed of breathing beneath the waves and swimming as gracefully as a fish. In fact, he longed to become a manfish. Jacques Cousteau grew up to become a champion of the seas and one of the best-known oceanographers in the world.
This book is yours to keep at home and enjoy over and over again! Here is a way you can take what you learned from the book and apply it at home.

After reading the book:

- Talk about what happened in the story, and share something that interested you.

You can create an underwater scene right in your home!

- If you have magazines, junk mail, or newspapers, cut out any plants or underwater animals you can find and tape them to a window in your home. This is your new in-home aquarium! You can add or take away as you find more images in print material.

- Instead of using found images, you can use paper and art materials to create underwater plants and animals, cut them out, and tape them to a window to create an underwater scene too!
